

Tuesday March 7

9:00 - 9:30

Registration with coffee and tea

9:30 – 10:00

Introduction by Foundation for Responsible Robotics (Aimee van Wynsberghe and Noel Sharkey), and Harvard Humanitarian Initiative (Faine Greenwood and Nathaniel Raymond)

10:00 – 11:15

Panel #1: Setting the stage (current challenges of this historical moment, diagnosis of how drones are being used in humanitarian contexts, problems and benefits)
Panelists: Tina Comes (ISCRAM), Andrew Billo (UNFPA), Kate Chapman (Cadasta),
Moderator: Nathaniel Raymond

11:15 – 11:45

BREAK

11:45 – 13:00

Panel #2: The role of industry in regulating humanitarian practices
Panelists: Arthur de Crook (RoboValley), Rohan Bennett (ITS4land), Giacomo Rambaldi (CTA), Jessica Dorsey (PAX)
Moderator: Noel Sharkey

13:00 – 14:00

LUNCH

14:00 – 15:30

Panel #3: What is required to move forward (what are best practices, what are worse case scenarios, what is the role of academia/industry/policy-makers in achieving best practices?)
Panelists: Allison Burtch (UNICEF), Rasha Abdul Rahim (Amnesty International), Michael Nagenborg (UTwente),
Moderator: Faine Greenwood

15:30 – 16:00

BREAK

16:00 – 17:00

Panel #4: Goals for the outcome document (what has been delivered so far in policy recommendations, what gaps are there in the current recommendations, why such gaps, how to overcome)
Panelists: Patrick Meier (UAViators), Alessandro Carrotta (DG ECHO, Humanitarian Aid and Civil Protection), Irakli Beridze (UNICRI), Denise Soesilo (FSD)
Moderator: Aimee van Wynsberghe

17:00 – 18:00

RECEPTION

Foundation for Responsible Robotics